About Natstand family documents:

A Natstand family document is intended to provide background information concerning the family of a deceased naturalist. It is hoped that such information will form a framework which will help interpret their surviving correspondence, specimens and records. In some cases it will also give an insight into the influences on their early lives and the family constraints within which they worked and collected. We have found that published family data concerning individuals rarely contain justification for dates and relationships and not infrequently contain errors which are then perpetuated. The emphasis in Natstand family documents will be on providing references to primary sources, whenever possible, which will be backed-up with transcriptions.

Although a Natstand biography page will always carry a link to a family document, in many cases these documents will be presented without any further biographical material. We anticipate that this will occur if the person is particularly well known or is someone we are actively researching or have only a peripheral interest in.

The following conventions are used:

Any persons in the family tree with known natural history associations will be indicated in red type. Any relationships will be to the root naturalist unless otherwise stated.

Dates are presented Year – Month – Day

e.g. 1820 March 9 or 1820.3.9
1820 March or 1820.3

Dates will be shown in bold type if a reliable reference is presented in the document. In cases where an exact year cannot be given (e.g. it is derived from an age at death), the date will be presented in normal type and preceded with "c" – e.g. c1798. There are some cases where a date is available from a secondary source only (e.g. a published obituary), in these cases it will be presented in italics – e.g. 1823.7.21

Data sources:

Census data have been used, whenever possible, to confirm relationships; they are not considered a reliable source of data concerning age. Contemporary newspaper family notices are considered as reliable sources of relationships and dates; reports and obituaries are treated more cautiously. Parish records generally provide a reliable source of data and digitised images have been used whenever possible. Any difficulties with transcription will be made clear. In some cases only transcripts have been available; errors here are usually confined to spelling. The most important source of this material is the International Genealogical Index compiled by The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Utah. National Civil Registration Indexes are considered reliable, as are probate records.

Overview of some early members of the Hanbury family

The Hanburys were a large and influential Quaker family with several significant botanists. This tree is presented as an aid to the interpretation of their correspondence and herbarium sheets. Persons appearing in Desmond's dictionary of botanists and horticulturalists are shown in red.

NOTE - Blue type shows dates I have confirmed from contemporary Quaker records and parish registers, no further references will be given.

DEATH OF MR. SAMPSON HANBURY, J.P., OF WYVENHOE PARK.

At an early hour on Monday morning, March 5, Mr. Sampson Hanbury, J. P.. who has occupied Wyvenhoe Park, the seat of the Rebow family, for several years, passed away after a month or two's illness during which, we understand he underwent a serious operation. Mr. Hanbury, though of a most quiet and retiring disposition and taking no part in local public affairs, was much esteemed in the neighbourhood. He formerly resided at Langford Park, and was a J. P. for the Borough of Maldon. Mr. Hanbury, who came of a very old Worcestershire family, was the second son of Mr. D. B. Hanbury, of the great chemists firm of Allen and Hanbury, whose house in Lombard Street is so widely known. He was a director of the first electric railway - the City and South London - and was one of the earliest supporters of the Volunteer movement in Essex, being associated in that patriotic work with the late Sir Claude de Crespigny. He was a great lover of the chase, and of all kinds of sport, and was a remarkably good shot. His eldest brother, Mr. Daniel Hanbury, was a very distinguished scientific man, and was a fellow of the Royal Society. Mr. Sampson Hanbury, who was born at Clapham in 1827 would have completed his seventy-third year had he lived until Wednesday last. He was a frequent exhibitor at the Rose and Horticultural Society's Shows at Colchester, and Mrs. Hanbury is well known in the borough, where much sympathy will be felt for her and her family. During his illness the deceased gentleman has been attended by Dr. Gimson, of Witham.

THE FUNERAL. - YESTERDAY (FRIDAY).

The funeral took place at Colchester Cemetery yesterday (Friday). The grave was lined with moss and various flowers, including arum lilies, lilies of the valley, tulips, &c, the work being carried out by Messrs. D. Prior and Son. At the foot was a cross and at the sides and head wreaths formed of flowers. The officiating clergy were the Rev. Sinclair Carolis (Rector of Wyvenhoe) and the Rev. B. Miller (Rector of St. Andrew's, Greenstead). There was a considerable assembly at the graveside, those present, in addition to the mourners, including Mr. James Round, M.P., Colonel Davison. Colonel Holroyd. Major Turner Wills, Mr. Caldwell. Mr. C. E. Egerton-Green, Captain Tufnell, Mr. E. K. Norman, etc.

The mourners were : — First carriage : Mrs. Aggs (sister), Mrs. Capel Hanbury (sister-in-law), Mr. Cecil Hanbury (nephew), Mr. Gurney Aggs (nephew.)

Second carriage : Mr. Capel Hanbury, Jun. (nephew), Mr. Addison McLeod, Mr. Leedham White.

Third carriage: Mr. Barrett (Stoakeleys), Mr. Knight, and Mr. Jenkins.

The coffin, which was of polished oak, with brass fittings, bore the inscription:-
Sampson Hanbury. Died March 5. 1900; Aged 72 years.

There were a number of wreaths and other floral tributes, the senders including the widow, Sir Mount-Stuart and Lady Grant Duff, Mr. Richard Rose and family. Colonel and Mrs Davison, Mr. and Mrs. Capel Hanbury and Muriel and Capel Junior, Mrs. Leslie, Lilla Smith, Helen and Gertrude Mayne, Miss A. L. M. Sellar. Major and Mrs. Murray, and Mr. and Lady Maud Barrett, the wreath sent by the last named being of exceptional beauty. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Mr. T. J. Ward and Mr. Albert Scarfe, of Colchester.

*WILLIAM ALLEN, THE PHILANTHROPIST.

The fact that Queen Victoria might not have been born in England but for a kind action by former Lindfield resident was disclosed to a large audience the King Edward Hall on Friday evening, at an interesting and instructive lantern lecture on "William Allen, the Lindfield Philanthropist." The lecture originated from meeting last summer between the Rev. Sidney Swann and Mr. F. J. Hanbury, of Brockhurst, East Grinstead, of the well-known firm chemists, Allen and Hanbury, and of which William Allen was formerly the head. Mr. E. C. Cripps, sales manager for the firm, and author of "Plough Court- Pharmacy," was the lecturer. Mr. Hanbury presided, and, in the course of his opening remarks, referred to Mrs. Cripps' exhaustive study of the life of William Alien, and to his wide researches. He (Mr. Hanbury) had often heard his father speak of his visits to William Allen at Gravelye House, Lindfield, and also of his recollections of the many meetings of Lord Brougham, Wilberforce, Thomas Clarkson and William Allen at the firm's old premises at Plough Court, Lombard Street. Mr. Hanbury added that his grandfather, Cornelius Hanbury, married Mary Allen, the only child of William Allen. She died at the birth of her only son, William Allen Hanbury, who left one son, and he died unmarried in Nice. There was therefore now NO LIVING DESCENDANT OF WILLIAM ALLEN.

His (Mr. Hanbury's) grandfather married second time, his grandmother, Elizabeth Sanderson, who died in 1901 at the age of 108. The speaker expressed his great pleasure and interest in visiting Lindfield. and seeing Gravelye House itself through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Jones. It might be worth mentioning, said Mr. Hanbury, that when he first went to East Grinstead. the daughter of William Allen's coachman was living there, and she was fond of speaking of her childhood remembrances of William Allen. In conclusion, Mr. Hanbury said he had brought copy of "Plough Court Pharmacy," published on the occasion of the bi-centenary of his firm in 1915. As there was a considerable section devoted to William Allen he thought that the copy might placed in the local library. (Applause).

The lecture, which was illustrated sixty slides, was divided into three parts. The first dealt with William Allen's early life, the second with persons associated with William Allen and his philanthropic work, and the third with his associations with Lindfield. Mr. Cripps opened with a portrait of William Allen, who was born in August, 1770. At the age 21 he started work in the chemist's business in Plough Court, which eventually became known as Allen and Hanbury, and in which William Allen was principal. Mr. Cripps' details of WILLIAM ALLEN'S EARLY LIFE were illustrated with pictures of Plough Court as it was in William Allen's time and as it is to-day, and these included slides of the exterior and interior of the old pharmacy, and also of the firm's present up-to-date factories in Hertfordshire and London. The next series slides comprised views of portions of London as they were when William Allen was a young man, and the audience were amused the sight of cows in Bloomsbury Square! A slide depicting the first certificate issued by the Pharmaceutical Society was interesting, because it was issued and signed by William Allen. The first section of the lecture concluded with beautiful views of old Westminster Bridge and old London Bridge. In the second section, Mr. Cripps showed slides of a number of philanthropists who worked with William Allen, and in giving details of their efforts, under the leadership of William Allen, to save from execution many men who had been convicted of petty crimes. Mr. Cripps pointed out that there were 200 different crimes for which men could executed, and in two years the number of executions dropped from 483 to 56 through the efforts of William Allen and his friends. (Applause). The work of William Allen and his associates for the abolition of slavery, the education of the children of the poor, and Allen's chemical experiments and philosophical lectures were fully dealt with, and a slide shown of the staircase leading to a room at the old pharmacy in Plough Court where meetings were held. Mr. Cripps also related William Allen's VISIT TO THE CZAR OF RUSSIA and of his friendship with the Duke of Kent, the father Queen Victoria. The Duke and Duchess were abroad when the latter was expecting her baby, and the Duke naturally wished the baby to be born in England but had not sufficient money for the journey. William Allen sent a liberal sum to enable the Duke and Duchess to return home in comfort, and thus the future Queen of England was born in this country. (Applause). Passing on to his third section, Mr. Cripps showed slides of the school buildings erected by William Allen at Lindfield, and which still exist under the name of Pelham Place Cottages, and of the cottages (Gravelly Cottages, America Lane) which formed part of the colony started to improve the status of the agricultural labourer. In connection with THE SCHOOLS Mr. Cripps explained that there were departments for boys, girls and infants, and the teaching was in accordance with the principles of the British and Foreign School Society. There was also a printing works associated with William Allen's activities in Lindfield and here, among other publications, was printed "The Lindfield Reporter," a monthly publication which was last issued in 1840. A slide illustrating the lay-out of the rural colony on the Gravelly Estate, the property of Mr. John Smith, M.P., was shown and explained, and the final pictures were of William Allen's house at Stoke Newington and Gravelly House, where he died in 1843 at the age of 73, being buried at Stoke Newington.

The Rev. Sidney Swans voiced the thanks of the audience to Mr. Hanbury and Mr. Cripps for the delightful lecture, also Miss Hall for making the arrangements, and Mrs. Bevan and Mrs. Laurie for help.

Mr. G. Bevan, a descendant of Timothy Bevan, chemist mentioned by the lecturer, seconded, and the audience showed their appreciation by hearty applause.

Mr. CRIPPS expressed his thanks to Mr. E. C. Taylor, of East Grinstead, the lantern operator. Mr. A. J. Carey was responsible for lighting.

OBITUARY SIR JAMES CURRIE Pioneer of Training for Disabled Men FOUND DEAD IN BED AT CAMBRIDGE

Sir James Currie, K.C.M.G., of Upham House, Aldbourne, Wilts., was found dead in bed yesterday at Corpus Christi College Lodge, Cambridge, where he was staying as a guest of the Master, Mr. Will Spens. He was 68.

Sir James spent the week-end at Upham House, and then seemed to be in his usual health. He went to Cambridge for a conference and attended two meetings before he retired Tuesday night. It is stated that there was a smell of gas in the room when he was found. A post-mortem examination was made, and an inquest will be held to-day. Police and College authorities refused all information, but it is understood that death will be shown to have been due to an accident.

Sir James was chairman of the governing body of the Imperial College of Tropical Agriculture, Trinidad, and had been a director of the Empire Cotton Growing Corporation since 1922. He was educated in his native city of Edinburgh and at Oxford, and from 1900 to 1914 was Principal of Gordon College, Khartoum, and Director of Education in the Sudan.

In 1910 he became Director for the training of munition workers, under the Ministry of Munitions, and was responsible for equipping thousands of semi-skilled workers for the manufacture of aeroplanes and other requirements. In 1919 he joined the Ministry of Labour, again in a voluntary capacity as Controller of the Training Department. He originated the idea of Government instructional factories, and was responsible for the development of the training centres at which men disabled during the war were equipped to take their places in civilian life. Sir James was a landowner at Uddington, near Swindon. He contested the Devesey Division Liberal seat in 1918, but recently had supported the National Government.
